Indoor Mask Mandate

cchealth.org

In alignment with the State, Contra Costa and 10 other Bay Area counties and the City of Berkeley have lifted universal mask requirements for vaccinated people in most indoor public settings beginning February 16, 2022. The move comes as cases and hospitalizations have begun to rapidly drop around the state and region.

Unvaccinated individuals over age 2 are required to wear masks in all indoor public settings. Businesses, venue operators and hosts may determine their own paths forward to protect staff and patrons and may choose to require all patrons to wear masks. Everyone still needs to wear a mask in some places, such as public transit and healthcare facilities.

Bay Area health officers continue to strongly recommend masks be used as an effective tool to prevent the spread of the virus especially when case rates are high, or when additional personal protection is needed.

The California Department of Public Health (CDPH) continues to require masking in K-12 school settings but has indicated adjustments to the state's policies will be shared in the coming weeks. For early education programs, such as preschool and childcare settings, CDPH continues to require masking for children older than age two. Workplaces will continue to follow the COVID-19 prevention standards set by CalOSHA.

Kidz Programs

RAP (Recreation Afterschool Program)

Our theme for the month of February is Outer Space. Our children are busy engaging in making their Art planets and getting their hands on science projects for the first 2 weeks of February before diving into more Outer Space related crafts. Participants made Astronaut Pudding with powdered instant chocolate pudding, powdered milk and water. They used baking soda and water to make Snow. We also created a chemical reaction by combining baking soda and vinegar in a bottle with deflated balloon. The kids were astonished to see the balloon inflate as a result. They also used marbles, paint and construction paper to make paper planets. They imagined ruling their own planet, which was very exciting. We also got out and played lots of games like Red Light, Green light and Balloon Volleyball and other group games. And what would February be without celebrating Valentine's Day? Participants enjoyed decorating Valentine's cookies and making creative hearts for our friends and families.

At Hercules Library, we've refreshed our African American collection with a whole bunch of new and classic favorites for adults, teens, and children, and this month we're spotlighting African American inventors. Come by to check out the inventors, a mystery series written by Kareem Abdul Jabbar, or a memoir, graphic novel, sci-fi, or picture book written by and featuring Black authors.
